

A New Way to Play Together

DICE+ Launches at Gamescom

Poland, August 22nd – Game Technologies is excited to announce the launch of DICE+ at this year's Gamescom in Cologne.

The first product of its kind, DICE+ is designed to interact with tablet or other smart devices over Bluetooth. Bringing board games into the digital age, it lets people gather around a tablet and play together.

With a sleek, shock proof design and an innovative LED display, DICE+ is a thoroughly modern version of the familiar dice. It is built with purpose made materials and boasts built in accelerometer, thermometer and magnetometer, meaning it can be also be utilised as a modern motion controller. Not only that – it ensures a reliable and fair gameplay experience with a perfectly balanced design and features such as built-in intelligence that only accepts correct throws while low power consumption Bluetooth 4.0 hardware allows you to play for a whole day.

Several titles will be available to play when DICE+ launches on the 21st August, including:

Backgammon – a new digital version of one of the world's oldest games

Chuchumba – a fun game for kids which challenges their memory and arithmetic

DICE+ Heroes – a race to the finish where your fate is decided by a role of the DICE+

Rainbow Jack – a fast-paced strategy game

Rumble Stumble – Twister for your tablet!

This Way Up – a board game for kids inhabited by a host of animal characters

Bella & Max – a family game that invites you to an uncharted world brimming with adventure

Pirates – a board and card game where you build your fleet and may become the king of the sea!

Following in Q4 2013 and early 2014 are many titles based on popular IP's for both children and adults.

Game Technologies are looking forward to bringing a broad range of titles to this new arena, capturing a multitude of gamers from board game specialists to the more casual, family-oriented audience. The focus is on a fun, accessible and familiar blend of board gaming and educational gaming.

DICE+ was developed in Poland, produced exclusively in the EU for worldwide distribution and will be supported on Android and iOS. It will be available for $39.99.

For more information, please visit <http://dicepl.us/>

Oliwia Mandziuk
YOUR MEDIA, PRESS & PR CONTACT

Mail om@game-technologies.com
Phone +48 721 070 070

Poweringboardgames